GDPR BECOMES EASIER FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS

A new and affordable self-service tool simplifies compliance

London, Friday, 9 March 2018 – A new service launched by 123DPO in association with GDPR365 gives small businesses an online, self-service tool which covers every single aspect of GDPR compliance. The online portal takes business owners through each aspect of the GDPR in a clear and simple way. In addition, 123DPO have a help desk with a dedicated team of advisors to answer all your questions along the way.

"We know from talking to our clients and other people who have been asking us about GDPR that there is a need for a straightforward, systematic approach to GDPR which doesn't have to cost a fortune. We believe that this system can make GDPR compliance a far less stressful part of business life."

- Anthony Charlton – Head of Compliance at 123DPO

From deciding to appoint a DPO (Data Protection Office), to carrying out assessments, managing consent, working with processors or training employees, the online software asks all the questions so the person managing the GDPR compliance in an organization is guided through the entire journey. The platform automatically generates a legal Privacy Statement as well as providing a facility for tracking data subject access requests and managing data breaches, if they occur!

The entire platform is supported by extensive guidance to the relevant sections and recitals of the GDPR, videos explaining how the process works and the dedicated team of professionals who provide unlimited help and assistance.
